Sept 8th Day 2 : Dragør sightseeing

A very amazing little fishing village

Just a few kilometres (12-14 km) outside of the city centre of Copenhagen one will find a very amazing little fishing village called Dragør - located on the south cost of the isle of Amager.

Our bus starts from Copenhagen's Central Station directly to Dragør.

Dragør was founded in the 12th century – and many of the well preserved historical buildings are from the 1700s-1800s. Walking through the old part of the town, you will see the typical yellow painted houses with cobblestone streets and a charming harbour area, where visitors can experience the fishing boats selling their daily catch from the ship side. Take some breadcrumbs with you from your breakfast, as there are lots of ducks – swans and other birds waiting to be fed at the little harbour pier. Bus 30 will take you directly to Dragør from the Central Station. Visit the Dragør fortification from 1910 and view from the top of the fortress over to Sweden and the grand Oresund Bridge.

Sep 9th..Day 3: Swedish day tripping

Let's face it – how cool would it be to say "oh, I'm just going to Sweden for the day?" Sweden is just a short ferry ride from Copenhagen so why not take advantage of that proximity? With a day tour you can dip into the Swedish cities of Helsingborg, Lund and Malmö, while feeling like you're taking a cruise to get there. You'll follow the coastline to Elsinore, passing through fashionable resorts and pretty residential areas. (The ferry ride takes about 20 minutes.) or do the morning visiting Sweden and then take in the sites you have missed in Copenhagen

Sep 10th .. board the ship for trip back to New York
